

Friday Breakfast Conference Invocation

Alex Shcheglovitov was born and raised in Ukraine. His parents and relatives still live there. He came to the US in 2007 for postdoctoral training and now is an Assistant Professor of Neurobiology at the University of Utah.

His laboratory studies human genetic neurodevelopmental disorders.

He has a family with two boys, 10 and 16 and lives in Salt Lake City.

He has worked with another Ukrainian émigré Bogdana Schmidt, also at the University of Utah, to raise funds for Ukrainian relief.

Here is some information on how to help Ukraine:

Military support:

<https://bank.gov.ua/en/about/support-the-armed-forces>

Humanitarian support:

<https://novaukraine.org>

Safety vests, helmets, and other protective equipment:

<https://uaccusa.org>