Rotary 101: A brief overview of the world's largest non-denominational, non-political service organization, presented by our District Membership Committee & young Rotarians. Rotary 101 offers an overview and brief history of Rotary International and The Rotary Foundation. In addition, it will answer the attendee's questions about What's Rotary is? and Why Rotary? Including a summary of district service projects that illustrates Rotary's Service Above Self motto.

Corrie Forsling moved to Utah in 1999 and fell in love with the mountains. She served with Park City Rotary as club president, served as an Assistant Membership Chair on the District's membership committee, is an incoming Assistant Governor, and works as board treasurer with several other nonprofits in Park City. Corrie has served as Summit County Treasurer since 2011 while raising a blended family of six kids with her husband, Scott.

Scott Florence has been a Rotarian for 24 years, first in Oregon (Lakeview club) and now in Utah (Red Rock club). He is a past president of the Red Rock club (2015-2016) and Assistant Governor (2016-2019) and is currently serving as the District Membership Chair (2020-2023). He retired from the Bureau of Land Management in 2014 after a 38-year career

Rachael Palmer attended Rocky Mountain RYLA in high school and returned to serve as a Counselor for two years and a Head Counselor for 2016. RYLA is what introduced her to Rotary, which connected her to Rotaract and now the Connecting Generations Rotary club. She currently serves as the District Polio Plus Chair.

Sam Sanders began his involvement with Rotary in high school, was involved in RYLA 5490 and was the founding governor of Rotaract District 5490 (now 5495) in Arizona. After completing his studies, Sam moved to Utah and began volunteering with the Salt Lake Rotaract club.

Building Teams of Trust, Collaboration, and Results: presented by Professional Education at the University of Utah: We are biologically designed to protect ourselves from harm and risks. This session will take learners through the research of Teaming in Psychological Safety.

Margaret McDermott, MBA, is a go-to instructor in various areas, including management, business processes, customer service, and consulting. Additionally, she's developing two new courses for fall on public speaking and leading effective meetings and helping us update our Professional Management Signature Certificate program. Her extensive experience in process improvement and service delivery implementations makes her a popular choice for our custom programs.

Project Management Basics: presented by Professional Education at the University of Utah: Project management is rapidly becoming one of the most valuable careers that cross many industries. Get into the game with introductory knowledge to help you be an effective project manager.

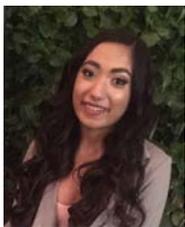

Danny Warner has taught project management for four years and enjoys sharing insights with students about the profession. He is currently a Senior Project Manager at my529. He maintains a Project Management Professional (PMP) credential that I earned from the Project Management Institute (PMI) in 2010, and he is an active member of the local chapter supporting professionals in project management (Project Management Institute - Northern Utah).

Rotaract to Rotary connection: How to make the leap and offer assistance to those jumping from a college to a professional Rotary club. Learn about the current number, location, activities, and accomplishments of the Rotaract clubs throughout Utah. Also, see how Rotaract is poised to change under Rotary International policy adjustments starting July 2022 and how Rotaract is the future of Rotary.

This presentation explains what Rotaract is in our District and what it will be. It includes information on where the Rotaract clubs are, what the clubs do regarding service, and who is their contact to join. We will also discuss the coming changes by RI starting July 1, including Rotaract dues, the closer association of Rotaractors to Rotarians, and new rights like qualification for District and Global grants. Lastly, we will discuss how Rotaractors can leap from Rotaract to Rotary.

Paul Cardon is the District Rotaract Representative. He has been a Rotaractor since 2018. In addition, he has served as Salt Lake Rotaract's Bennion Center liaison, president-elect, and club president. He just graduated in May 2022 in Metallurgical Engineering at school from the University of Utah.

Jasmine Masih has been involved with Rotary for ten years. She is currently the President of the Westminster College Rotaract club. Professionally she is a research assistant for the University of Utah School of Medicine Pediatric Endocrinology Department. She will be graduating this May with a Bachelor of Neuroscience from Westminster College and is hoping to pursue a career as a physician specializing in pediatrics.

Justin Powell is the District Rotaract chair. He has been a Rotarian since 2015. He has served as his club's international service chair, foundation chair, and club president. Professionally, he is the Executive Director of Youthlinc, a local nonprofit.

Rotary Peace Fellows & the Positive Peace Index. Peace is one of seven areas of focus for Rotary, and the graduate study Peace Fellow program is an integral part open to all. From Peace Fellows to Positive Peace: Rotary's Vital Role in Creating a World that is More Peaceful and Fulfilling for the Majority of People on the Planet. From Rotary's inception, peace has been a cornerstone of Rotarians' work in the world. We will explore Rotary's valuable role in creating more sustainable and fulfilling lives for individuals, communities, and the world. Rotary and its members fill four roles in the peace process: peace practitioners, educators, mediators, and advocates. Peace begins at home, with each of us as individuals and as club members. Learn more about our role in peace and how you may impact it if you choose to do so in this exploration of what comes next for Rotary.

Kris Swanson currently serves as District Peace Chair and the Use Side/Grants Chair for the District Foundation Committee. She served as District Grants Chair for seven years.
